

Rollscreen 1 bannerstand graphic changes.

Items needed:

Large flat working surface

Utility or Xacto knife

2" wide packing tape

Flat screwdriver or small pry bar

A helper

Locate end of bannerstand with the round peg

Notice the small hole next to the peg

Locate the locking pin on the bottom of the stand

Remove the locking pin

While holding the hardware securely, pull the graphic all the way out until the plastic leader is exposed. Should have nearly a foot of plastic leader exposed

While holding the locking pin in the hole, slowly let the graphic retract until the pin slips in the locking hole and locks the graphic in place.

Now you can cut the old graphic off

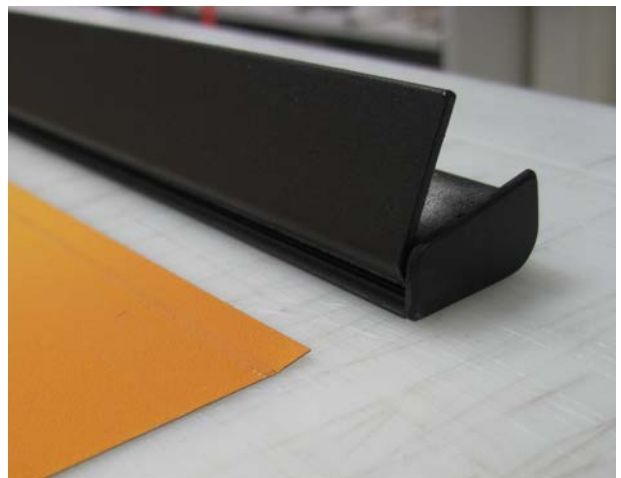

Remove the top clamping bar from the old graphic noting which side is up. You may need a screwdriver or small pry bar to get it open.

Install the clamp bar onto the new graphic making sure that the graphic is fully seated into the bar. Clamp the bar down onto the graphic across the whole length of the bar.

Now tape the bottom of the graphic onto the plastic leader.

Pull the graphic out slightly to release the tension on the locking pin and carefully let the graphic retract into the hardware.

Replace the locking pin into the holder on the bottom of the hardware
